OUR TREASURY SURPLUS.

THE EFFECTS OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT BUYING BONDS.

Forty Millions of Money Put in Circulation During a Fortnight—The Probability of an Extra Session of Congress. Foreigners Coming to America.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—What next? That is the question that is being asked now in reference to the treasury and its surplus. The fourteen millions of bonds which the treasury had to buy a week ago at a premium have been practically all purchased. The six millions of dollars of interest which the department proposed to pay in advance of the day on which it fell due, has been paid, and twenty millions of money thus put out of the treasury and set afoul.

Nearly twenty millions more will be paid out in a few days in the way of pensions. This will put forty millions of money which, a fortnight ago, was locked in the treasury, in the hands of the people. Yet there remains as much more in the treasury, which might be spared and put into circulation, than could be found away of paying it out. The question now arises, what will the treasury department do with the surplus already accumulated, and that which continues to accumulate at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 a week? A good deal of interest is felt here in this question. Of course only two methods remain. One would be to pay six months' interest in advance, as the law permits, and the other would be to buy bonds at a premium, merely as an investment. Those bought up to this time have been for the sinking fund, but that has now been completed so far as this year's purchases go, and if others are to be bought it must be merely as an investment, and to get the money out of the treasury and stop interest. This the government has never done, where a high premium must be paid in order to get the bonds.

There is no doubt, apparently, as to the authority to purchase bonds before they fall due, though whether that authority contemplates the payment of premiums may be questioned by some financiers. It requires a slight arithmetical computation only to show that since the government has this money in hand it can do well by purchasing its own bonds even at the high premium which they now command. The four per cents have yet twenty years to run, so that the interest on them would amount to eighty cents on each dollar. If the government can buy them now at $1.25 it will save fifty cents on each $1.25 invested. Whether the financiers of the treasury will see fit to do this is not known. It is probable that no action in this direction will be taken at present, unless there is another flurry in Wall street, and there is a demand for more money. From what can be gathered here, however, it seems quite likely that some action of this kind may be taken before December, unless an extra session of congress should be called.

There are some statesmen here who are still predicting that congress will be called about November 1. It is not impossible that this solution of the financial problems may prove more satisfactory than the purchase of bonds. It would have two important results, that it would transfer the responsibility from the shoulders of the administration to congress itself, and at the same time probably hasten action in regard to a reduction of the revenue.

Injustice of the Court Martial Law.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—"A great deal of pressure will be brought to bear on the next congress," said a war department official to-day, "to secure the enactment of a law which shall mitigate in some degree at least the injuries suffered by an officer of the army who is unfortunate enough to have court martial charges preferred against him. Take the case of the average officer who is tried by one of these courts. The charges are preferred, testimony taken, and a verdict agreed on, which is sealed and delivered to the judge advocate of the court. It is then transmitted to the judge advocate general, who sends it to the adjutant general, and it finally reaches the secretary of war.

"If there is a sentence to be decreed the papers must all go to the president for review. They are then returned to the adjutant general and by him published in court martial orders. Examine any case on file and note the time which has elapsed after rendering the verdict before the publication of the findings. In many cases it is two or three months. All this time the poor fellows are kept in ignorance of the result of the trial, and if charged with a grave offense are kept in a state of mind not to be envied. It is positive cruelty, particularly in the case of a poor fellow with a wife and children to share the terrible suspense. The abuse is a crying one, and ought to be remedied promptly. The cases might be materially expedited without danger of error or misjudgment through undue haste."

The Increase in Immigration.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The tide of immigration continues to flow very strong in this direction. The present calendar year will probably land a half million foreigners in this country. Already the number which have arrived since the 1st of January last is about 40,000, and from this day on the number will naturally decrease until toward spring again. The number of immigrants into this country has never been so great before, except in the years of 1881, 1883 and 1884 and perhaps 1885. The largest number that ever came in a single year was in 1882, when 738,802 foreigners were landed on this shore to make for themselves homes in the United States. The total number of foreigners who have come to the United States in the past century is about 15,000,000.

No accurate record was kept until 1820, but it is estimated that the number from 1787 to that time was 300,000. Since 1820 and including the present year, the total will be about 14,500,000. Of this number Ireland has furnished over three millions, Germany over three millions, England one million, Sweden and Norway one-half million. Sweden and Norway now furnish a larger proportion than in former years, the natives of that country being now nearly 15 per cent. of the total number of immigrants. Germany furnishes the largest proportion now while Sweden and Norway, Ireland,

England and Wales are making a tight race this year for second place in the list of citizens furnished to the United States.

The New York Herald's Sunday Edition.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The West Side newsmen held a meeting last night to organize and take steps to induce the Herald to allow them their former commission of one cent on the Sunday edition. Until last week the Sunday edition of the Herald was a five cent paper, and the dealers paid four cents for it. Last Sunday it appeared as a three cent paper, and they had to pay two and one-quarter cents, reducing their profits by a quarter of a cent. The East Side Newsmen's union will also meet to take similar measures. Last night's meeting adjourned to Thursday to await the report of its committee appointed to wait on the Herald and present the demands of the dealers. There are about 1,500 newsmen in the city.

OVER AN EMBANKMENT.

Passenger Train Wrecked Near Jackson, Mississippi—Nineteen Injured.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 29.—Information has been received here of a terrible wreck which occurred on the Mobile & Ohio railway two miles south of Jackson, Tenn., at 7:30 yesterday morning.

It was a passenger train, and was running forty miles an hour, when the baggage car left the track, and every coach and the tender of the engine were thrown from an embankment.

There were about thirty passengers on board, more than half of whom were more or less injured. The officials did everything possible for the relief of the sufferers.

The following is a list of the wounded:

J. B. Jones, mail agent, shoulder broken and badly bruised about the face.

Ira Perkins, baggage master, inwardly hurt and cut about the face.

J. W. Dunning, express agent, of Mobile, Ala., badly bruised.

Moses Ray, brakeman, cut about the head.

Mrs. M. E. David, of Peoria, Ill., bruised in the shoulder.

Miss Nora B. Ryan, of West Point, Miss., hurt on the shoulder.

Miss Clemmie Davis, of Columbus, Miss., bruised on the head.

Miss Jennie Hicks, of West Point, Miss., bruised on the head.

Miss Nettie Griffin, of Enterprise, Miss., slightly hurt.

Mrs. C. C. Coffee, of Meridian, Miss., hurt on the arm and shoulder.

Mr. George of Meridian, Miss., hurt on the shoulder.

G. W. Kainsner, of Florence, Ala., badly hurt on the side.

H. S. Depew, traffic manager of the road, hurt on the head and hip.

E. A. Naylor, of Oak Grove, cut on the head.

Steven Rosenheim, wife and children, of Trenton, Mo., all slightly.

M. O. Johnson, of Cayce, Ky., badly hurt on the shoulder and head.

Mrs. M. Meeks, of this city, slightly hurt.

Dr. J. A. Crook, of this city, hurt on the neck.

Mrs. J. C. Terry, of Columbus, Miss., body hurt.

All the wounded are doing well, save the mail agent and baggage master. The cause of the wreck was a broken truck and bad rail.

Marriage Ceremony Postponed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 29.—A score or more of people gathered in a little frame house on Morris street at 8 o'clock yesterday evening to witness the marriage ceremony of Emma Moore to Ansenberger Victor, a young Frenchman. The bride was dressed and in waiting when the hour for the ceremony came, but Mr. Victor was mysteriously absent. Some of his friends present vouchsafed that they had seen him start for his license early in the afternoon, and no one could offer an excuse for his absence. Minutes seemed like hours to the bride and waiting company, and when he was still absent at 9 o'clock some of his friends volunteered to go out and hunt him up. He was found at the police station, beastly drunk. Victor had taken a drink to brace up before the trying ordeal, and before getting home met so many friends who wanted to compliment him on his good luck that he got drunk before he knew it.

Captain Black Starts for Chicago.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Capt. Black and his associate, Moses Solomon, finished their examination of the papers in the Anarchists' case with Gen. Pryor, and started for Chicago yesterday. Their movements were not known to their Socialist and Anarchist friends here, for a large number of them went to the Socialists' library last night, expecting to hear Capt. Black speak, and were, of course, disappointed. It is generally understood that it was through the interference of Capt. Black that George Francis Train's exposure of the doings of Wall street did not take place. Capt. Black said that the wild ravings of the speakers in New York had greatly prejudiced the case of his clients.

Acquitted of a Serious Charge.

BUFFALO, Sept. 29.—Acting on the advice of Judge Beckwith, the jury in the trial of Asylum Attendants Summer, Nunam and Sharkey, charged with manslaughter in the second degree, in causing the death of a patient, C. W. Brown, at the State Insane Asylum, last spring, returned a verdict of acquittal yesterday morning without leaving their seats. The judge decided that there was not sufficient evidence to convict.

Buried Alive.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Fred Williams, who lived near this city, and who was employed as a workman on the K. & O. railroad putting in a switch at the Raymond coal mine, was crushed to death yesterday by falling dirt, being buried alive. There were a number of other men employed at the slide, but all escaped except Williams. He leaves a family.

Boddlers Deserter by Mike McDonald.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The formal surrender of Harry Varnell on a bond of $3,000 and of John E. Van Pelt on one for $35,000, was made yesterday before Judge Waterman by their bondsman, M. C. McDonald. Deputy Sheriff Gross was instructed to formally notify the sheriff's office, the state's attorney, and the jail authorities of the fact.

OLD ARMY VETERANS TURN OUT IN A DRENCHING RAIN.

Thousands of Visitors to the Grand Army Encampment at St. Louis Become Disgusted With the Weather and Return Home—A Memorial Reception.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29.—The leaden clouds, heavier than ever, still hang over the city, one moment discharging dreary drizzle, the next a drenching shower. The streets were weary wastes of slush, and if an elemental conspiracy had been formed against St. Louis and its guests its success could not have been more complete. Thousands of veterans and visitors turned their faces homeward last night, and thousands more of the early risers this morning took a hurried glance at the

THERE is some talk of the G. A. R. electing Foraker Commander-in-Chief. If this is done, the G. A. R.'s days of peace and prosperity are numbered.

THE news from New York indicates that Governor Hill and President Cleveland are not fighting each other very hard. They are evidently pulling together for the success of the party.

THE present corn crop is estimated at 1,310,000,000 bushels. It looks like the supply is amply sufficient to furnish the people with all the "hog and hominy" they want for the next year.

BEER-DRINKING is on the increase in this country, and the Government is taking steps to see that the people get the pure article. The different brands will be officially analyzed before long.

ENCOURAGING reports come from the campaign in Ohio, and the indications point to the success of the Democratic ticket. The people over there ought to go to work and relegate "Bombastes Foraker" to the rear.

THE "mixed school" question will undoubtedly cut an important figure at many places in the approaching election in Ohio. At Felicity the whites are said to be "boycotting" the blacks in every imaginable manner.

THE "mixed school" question has been compromised at New Richmond, Ohio. The older colored pupils are admitted to the white schools, while the younger are excluded. This doesn't seem to better the situation very much much.

ONE of the great differences between the two parties is this: The past Republican administrations gave public lands to rich railroad corporations; the Democratic administrations are taking these lands and giving them to settlers.

CAPTAIN I. G. RAWN, new Master of Transportation and Chief Train Dispatcher, says he was lately traveling all over the country and has seen no road in better condition than the Kentucky Central.—Paris Kentuckian-Citizen.

Evidently Captain Rawn has not taken a trip yet over this end of the line.

IN speaking of the proposed move of the temperance folks of this county, the Carlisle Mercury says: "Maysville, with a law that would not permit one citizen to give another a drink, will simply be horrible. It will be many days before the law could be enforced."

THE National Republican is in favor of the Government loaning the Wall street gamblers $100,000,000 of the people's money to gamble on. This leads an exchange to remark that "now is the time for that Napoleon of Finance, Henry S. Ives, to shooe in his oar for a hundred or two millions."

THE business men of Illinois are reported as saying "they are pleased with the administration because Mr. Cleveland has been the people's President, instead of a partisan President." The opinion entertained by these Illinoisans is pretty general throughout the country, which accounts somewhat for the President's popularity among the people.

WELL, it remains to be seen whether workmen are so blind to their real interests as to insist upon supporting a concern that is run "cheap" at the expense of the mechanics who are kept out of work by the "plate" process!"—Daily Republican, April 7th.

As our esteemed contemporary has lately adopted the "plate process," we suppose it is now being run "cheap" at the expense of the "home mechanics." We copy the above to show what a wonderful change a few, short months will sometimes bring about. "It remains to be seen" what the result will be.

"THE mosquito of 1887 is now laid up with a sore throat," says the Boston Herald, "and fears are entertained that his vocal chords are permanently injured for this season. He no longer sings, but croaks like an aged bullfrog in the meadow pond, while he promises to be game to the very last. What a lesson the mosquito teaches us! Cheerfulness under all circumstances; persistent effort to succeed in his own small way; courage to assail cruel humanity; shrewdness in the avoidance of physical dangers, and an unbounded amount of self-confidence are the chief characteristics of this too unappreciated insect."

OUR NEIGHBORS.

SHANNON.

The funeral of Mr. William A. Campbell was largely attended. His grandsons were the pall bearers. Rev. D. A. Beardsey was the pulpit orator. His text was founded on the fourth verse of the 8th Psalm. His topic, "What is man?" was handled in a masterly style, riveting the attention of his audience. The sermon was well received. Mr. Campbell was next to our oldest citizen, being in his eighty-second year. The opening hymn, "Beautiful Valley of Eden," and the concluding one, "Go Bury Thy Sorrows," was touchingly rendered by our organist, Miss Bland.

SARDIS.

Dr. W. H. Anderson, the new pastor of the M. E. Church, South, preached his opening sermon here on Sunday last.

His text was the eighteenth verse, xvi chapter Matthew. The church was full and the remarks of the new preacher were listened to with absorbing interest. He warned up with his theme and seemed this day to have just reached the summit of his flight, and his discourse had the heightened charm with which veneration clothes the words of wisdom from the lips of age and experience.

With the concluding hymn the audience, all denominations uniting, arose and went forward and gave the Doctor the right hand of fellowship. The new conference year opens most auspiciously and we predict that the brethren will "dwell together in unity."

The Morning Dress.

It is said that a lady's standing in society can easily be determined by her dress at the breakfast table; an expensive, showy costume indicating that the wearer has not yet learned the proprieties. But no one need be afraid of being called "shoddy" if her loveliness is as apparent by daylight as at the hops. Perfect beauty is never the attendant of disease; above all, of those diseases peculiar to women, and which find a ready cure in Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." Price reduced to $1. By druggists.

Baltimore & Ohio Insurance Agents.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29.—The Knights of Labor have joined an alliance with the insurance agents and representatives of beneficial societies of this city to fight the insurance feature of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company in the next legislature. The Baltimore and Ohio Relief association has been in operation for several years. At a meeting last night a joint committee was appointed to formulate a bill compelling the Baltimore & Ohio to give up the insurance business.

John Arensford's Boudoir Withdrawn.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Sept. 29.—The bondsmen of John Arensford, the chief defendant in the Hadlock murder case, who is held in $2,500, surrendered him to the sheriff yesterday, two of the sureties withdrawing. Other bonds were furnished in a like sum. It is evident that the results of the late trial are causing anxiety, and that future possibilities are regarded with great concern. The Methodist conference, now in session here, will raise $1,000 to aid in the prosecution. The arguments for a new trial in the Munroh case are not yet completed.

United American Mechanics.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 29.—The forty-first annual convention of the National council of the order of United American Mechanics was called to order here yesterday morning by National Councillor Charles H. Stein, of Baltimore. There were present forty delegates. The increase of membership in the order was shown by the report of the secretary to have been 1,500 during the past year. The delegates were driven about the city in the afternoon and entertained at a banquet in the evening. The session will be continued to-day.

Friends of Indian Civilization.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The fifth annual conference of the Friends of Indian Civilization begins this morning. A large number of delegates, representing all sections of the country, have arrived. Among these are Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts; ex-Commissioner of Indian Affairs Hiram Price, Bishop Walker and Secretary Whitley, of the board of Indian commissioners; ex-Commissioners Barston, of Rhode Island, and Felix Brunot, of Pittsburgh, and Bishops Whipple, of Minnesota, and Huntington, of New York.

Were They Murdered?

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Yesterday while workmen were digging out a well which had been abandoned years ago on the old McCandless farm south of this place, they found at the bottom the skeleton of four persons, all evidently men. Years ago a public house was kept at the place, and there are still stories told among the old inhabitants of mysterious disappearances of travelers from the old country inn. The skeletons seemed to have been buried from thirty to forty years.

Boots Leg Sawed Off.

DEEDSBURG, Ind., Sept. 29.—Yesterday morning as William Fenters, proprietor of a saw mill in this place, was sawing logs, he slipped and fell on the log-carriage and became entangled in a chain, and before it could be stopped he had reached the saw, which severed both legs just below the knee. He cannot possibly recover from the shock.

Tennessee's Temperance Election.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 29.—The Republican's advices from Tennessee indicate that the vote on the Prohibition amendment in the state to-day will be very close, with a probability that the amendment will be defeated. Middle Tennessee is expected to give a decided majority against it, and the two ends of the state a small majority are the chief characteristics of this too unappreciated insect."

THE HINDOO WIFE.

HOW THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE IS MADE TO RUN SMOOTH.

The Present Condition of the Hindoo Widow Not Heretofore Correctly Represented—Rule of the Mother—Piety and the Bath—Use of Oil.

One of my newspapers lately contained a short article from the London Standard, entitled "Hindoo Child Marriage." It described as pitiable the lifelong state of the Hindoo widow, who had never been more than a bride, her some years nominal husband having died when she was a little girl. A Bengali of Calcutta, a university graduate, and wealthy member of society, on reading it says that it is strongly put, and moreover applies to a condition many years passed by; that the Hindoo widow as "apart and accursed, her hair short or shaved wholly, in coarse and often squallid garments, her instincts starved into inanition by constant fasts, a silent, shunned, stiff, disfigured object, and often hideously bald, forbidden all hope of joy," has some foundation, but it is intensified, exaggerated, of even her condition fifty years ago.

She fasts frequently, at stated days. She wears no colors, but that makes little difference, as the present mode in Bengal dresses every lady of respectable rank in white, except that on the edge of her two wrappings there is a narrow line, gold, pink, crimson, etc., the widow's robe being only distinguished by the absence of that outer line or thread of color. She becomes interested in the children around her in the house. She is often a favorite, and she has a busy and useful place in the Hindoo family.

THE MOTHER'S RULE.

A sapient Brahman joined the conversation by saying, "They have liberty," as contrasted to the restrictions and the obedient condition of wifely women. So long, however, as the son's mother lives this widow is subservient. Sons stay at home, living with the parents. Daughters leave their own parents as soon as they are old enough to take the position of wives, the matrimonial vows and obligations having been made in childhood.

The oldest mother in the household continues to be the highest social monarch in the house—the despotic dictator, to whom all the family conventionally pays ceremonious deference.

This Bengali gentleman, 32 years old and the father of six children, from the promptings of a happy experience gave a glowing eulogy upon the Hindoo social system. The Hindoo pair, having been selected by adult judgment, begin acquaintances as playmates, grow into friends, ripen into lovers, and become, as they were predestined, consorts. It is a case in which the course of true love runs smooth, and he considers it a most romantic career. He tells me that the home life of Hindoo women has little or nothing intellectual or scholarly, but that it is very rich in the affections. From early morning all the time they are busy in supervision of the management of the little ones and in provision for the comfort and the food of all.

Pious duties and the baths, two never neglected items, occupy no insignificant portion of the day. This mother, a lady of 65 years, fasts often because she is a widow; has bathed twice a day all her life and is in excellent health. The usual bath, whether in a stream or in the house, is merely a pouring of water over and over the body, mostly on the shoulders. Any other sort of washing of the person they don't seem to consider "a bath."

OILING THEIR BABIES.

Oil has a fluent part in the oriental toilet. Mothers are fond of oiling their babies completely from the little head to the little toe and then washing them off, when the skin comes out very clean and soft. This item I have from a British widow and mother who has been here from childhood. She also tells me that a bath can be given without danger of adding to a bad cold by first freely oiling the sore chest, and that it may even remove the soreness. They generally use cocoanut oil as being the oil of the country. Oil for the forehead or a hot head is a better cooler than water. The water dries immediately and leaves the skin burning. But in case of either a sun heated or thought heated head, if a soft oil is poured on with the lassiness of cologne or plain water, the scalp actually drinks it up, is the experience of this country.

The northern nose often turns upward at the use of cocoanut oil that is not fresh. The nose of the common people is less affected in that way. In truth there are scents worse than stale cocoanut oil. From the universal ointment using habits of the oriental toilet comes the frequent reference to anointing in the Bible, as of Aaron, the high priest; as also Mary Magdalene's alabaster box. Possibly the supple hand joints of all the oriental people have received their faculty of bending backward from this universal use of oils. Oil plays a conspicuous part in Hindoo worship. Also the Christian Catholic church annually uses "holy oils."

One after another custom strikes the stranger as a primitive counterpart of something which has not disappeared from modern traditions or which yet exists in the west, in a modified or in the same old form, until at off hand we say everything in modern civilization can be traced to "the cradle land of arts and creeds."—Anna Ballard's British India Letters in Chicago News.

M. Boussingault's Demonstrations.

M. Boussingault, the celebrated chemist, whose death has just been announced, was a remarkably successful experimenter, notably, perhaps, in such matters as related to plant life and the chemistry of food stuffs. It was he who so strikingly demonstrated the influence green plants exert upon the air when exposed to the action of sunlight, freezing it with the life giving oxygen. He also conclusively proved—to be remembered by those who keep plants in small, badly ventilated bedrooms—that in darkness plants behave exactly like animals—that is, they rob the air of oxygen and charge it with carbonic acid. Amateur gardeners may take a hint from one of the researches of Boussingault which went to prove the high value of pigeon's dung as a food for plants. Mixed with water it forms a rich and highly beneficial manure for all kinds of pot flowers. Indeed, it is said that in some parts of Spain pigeon's dung for this purpose sells for as much as 4d. a pound.

More About the Bean Fortune.

A special from Washington City, says: "Joseph Morgan, Deputy Register of Leonardsburg, Md., last week received a letter from the Sheriff of Bonham, Fannin County, Texas, stating that an old man by the name of Thomas Bean died in that place some days before, leaving a large fortune in real estate in that town, valued up in the millions. Several days before his death, he stated that he had relatives in St. Mary's County, Md. Mrs. Jane M. Hammett, one of the oldest inhabitants of that county, and mother of Dr. Charles M. Hammett, of Washington, upon hearing the news, said that Thomas Bean was her father's uncle, and that forty-five years ago he left St. Mary's County and went to Texas to seek his fortune, but nothing more had been heard from him. It is said that Bean became engaged in the raising of cattle, and accumulated an immense fortune. For the last few years he had been living in retirement and alone. The neighbors around regarded him as a miser.

"The points necessary to establish, for obtaining the fortune, are whether the Tom Bean who died in Texas is the same Tom Bean who left St. Mary's County forty-five years ago; and also that he was Mrs. Hammett's father's uncle. Among the relatives and possible claimants are Dr. Charles M. Hammett, Mr. Whit Hammett, of Washington; Mrs. Jane M. Hammett and Mrs. J. T. M. Raley, of Leonardtown, Md.; Mrs. Colonel Posey, of Baltimore, and George Hammett. Dr. Hammett says several persons already have gone to Texas to lay claim to the estate."

AN interesting romance is sent the newspaper from Simpson County. John Jim Bell and Polly Ann Shea were lovers. They quarreled and she gave him the "grand bounce." That happened forty years ago. John Jim joined the army, and Polly Ann married another fellow who deserted her. The other day the old lovers met in the poor house of Simpson County, and renewed the love of their youth. Simmons' Mineral Well Water.

NEW RICHMOND, O., Sept. 18 h 1887. Col. Simmons, Aberdeen, Ohio—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in writing to you a few lines to let you know what the water from your place has done for me. When I began using it my body and lower limbs were very much swollen with dropsy, and my stomach was in a very bad condition. I had very little strength and every exertion tired me very much; also had shortness of breath, a rush of blood to my head. I began to feel better very soon after I commenced drinking the water; this swelling began to go down and my stomach is perfectly well. There has been no symptoms of dropsy for over two months and I think I am cured. I have a splendid appetite, sleep well and have gained ten pounds in the last two months. My family and self are very thankful to you for your kindness. If you wish to make any use of this letter you are at liberty to do so. Very Respectfully yours,

W. D. CORNS, Pilot Str. Andes.

TWO STATE CONVENTIONS.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS AND MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

Democrats of the Empire State nominate a ticket at Saratoga—Proceedings of the Republican Convention at Boston. The Nominations Made.

SARATOGA, Sept. 29.—The Democratic state convention did not convene last evening, on account of the absence of a majority of the delegates at the appointed time. The committee on resolutions and credentials worked until after midnight.

The day opened cold and gloomy and delegates wore overcoats in the convention hall. The temporary organization was made permanent. The recommendations of the state committee were adopted, and the vote to exclude Irving Hall was unanimous. The committee on resolutions was not ready to report and the convention took a recess.

The convention reassembled at 1:12 p. m. Chairman Rainey announced that Governor Dorsheimer would present the report of the committee on resolutions. Governor Dorsheimer took his place amid applause. He stated that he was instructed before submitting the report to present two resolutions for separate action by the convention. The first resolution expressed the sorrow of the Democracy for the death of those great leaders, Seymour, Tilden, Hendricks, McClellan and Hancock. It was adopted by acclamation. The other resolution expressed admiration of the wisdom and success which marked the administration of the treasury by Hon. Daniel Manning. This was also carried by acclamation.

The platform was then read and adopted unanimously.

Nominations were then declared to be in order.

Mr. McNaughton presented the name of Hon. Frederick Cook for renomination as secretary of state. Hon. J. R. Fellows seconded the nomination. Mr. Cook's nomination was then made unanimous.

The next nomination in order was that of comptroller. Senator Edward Wemple was nominated unanimously.

Mr. John Courtney then nominated Hon. Lawrence J. Fitzgerald, the present incumbent for treasurer, and after a few short speeches the nomination was made unanimous.

Herbert F. Bissell, of Buffalo, named Deputy Attorney General Charles F. Tabor for attorney general, and Mr. Gulter presented the name of Hon. William A. Poucher, of Utica. When Mr. Bulger had concluded, Hon. A. F. Jenks, corporation counsel of Kings county, seconded the nomination of Tabor. The roll call on nominations showed a large majority for Tabor, and on motion of Mr. Bulger the nomination of Tabor was made unanimous. The convention then adjourned sine die.

Massachusetts Republicans.

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—The corridors of the Tremont house were filled with delegates to the Republican state convention at an early hour this morning. The main topic of discussion was the nomination for the attorney generalship, which seems to have been practically settled in favor of Hon. Albert Pillsbury, of Boston. The convention was called to order at 11 a. m. and temporary organization effected as follows: Temporary chairman, F. L. Burden; secretaries, Robert Southworth and J. O. Wardwell.

Prayer was then offered by Rev. Dr. Hawkins, after which Chairman Burden formally opened the convention. The usual committees were then appointed. The credentials showed 1,027 delegates present.

The chairman of the committee on platform reported and the report was unanimously adopted.

Senator Hoar then took the platform and in a brief address nominated Oliver Ames for governor. The convention made the nomination unanimous by acclamation. J. Q. A. Brackett was also unanimously nominated for lieutenant-governor; H. B. Pierce, for secretary of state; A. W. Board, of Boston, for state treasurer, and C. R. Ladd, for auditor.

Commissioner Miller Won't Analyze Beer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A Washington special to the Post says that Mr. Miller, commissioner of internal revenue, denied that he intended making a raid on the brewers and making an analysis of their beer. He says that as the brewers all pay their taxes it is not his duty to make such an examination.
